

The importance of process chemistry for a sustainable production of API

Kai Rossen
Jiuzhoupharma

kai.rossen@jiuzhoupharma.com

Organic process research and development creates the knowledge that is necessary to prepare API. The increasing focus on green and sustainable production of API requires process chemists to consider these aspects in addition to the many topics addressed by the community. The presentation will give the author's view on how the community needs to address and face the issues.